8,000 to Jam Stadium for Tygers' Crucial Test

SKY TO CLEAR FOR CONTEST TONIGHT AT 8

Students Ignore Driving Rain For Pre-Game Rally and Snake-Dance.

By FRED THARP
News-Journal Sports Editor

Tonight's "the night" for Mansfield's Tygers.

And the weatherman, ignoring 24 hours of intermittent rains, promised clearing and cool, possibly with frost, for their football clash with Massillon Washington high at 8 p. m. on Stadium field.

With 7,000 tickets already sold, officials predicted a crowd of 8,000. They arranged to place "standing room only" tickets on sale at the Stadium gates at 6:30 p. m. and forecast that at least 1,000 would be sold at $1 each.

Enthusiasm ran over.

Hundreds of Mansfield high's students left at homes coats and shoes soaked last night as they snake-danced their way through the business district, invading theaters and gasoline stations and disrupting early evening traffic. Then they gathered in Senior high auditorium to cheer their lungs out and almost break the ear drums of several hundred of their elders who joined with them in a pep rally for tonight's crucial test.

State Title at Stake.

And a crucial test it promised to be for the Tygers. Undefeated in five starts—and holding the cherished No. 2 spot among Ohio's scholastic gridiron teams, they must turn in history's first conquest of Massillon's Tigers to retain a possible claim to the mythical Ohio high school football championship, long sought but never captured.

School officials said at noon that the gridiron was soft but in good condition.

Special Band Programs.

The fine musical organizations of both schools have planned special programs for pre-game and half-time ceremonies. Both will present their own version of a Tyger or Tiger, as the case may be, mascot.

A girls' trio—Nancy Twitchell, Anne Parsons and Joan Twitchell—presented "Strange Music," "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "To Each His Own," at last night's rally.

Mansfield Senior High Band Parents' club will fete the Massillon swing band at a dinner at 5:30 p. m. in the high school cafeteria.

Tickets-as-Interest Plan Contemplates 12,000 Seats For Fans.

An unusual financing plan, calling for use of football tickets to pay interest on an approximate $150,000 loan, was announced today. If successful, it would permit completion of 12,000 seats in Mansfield Senior high's new athletic plant.

With the announcement, H. W. Arlin, president of the board of education and of the Senior high school athletic association, said it appeared certain that 6,000 seats would be ready for the Tygers' 1947 season and the entire 12,000 might be completed.

The $150,000 would be used not only to complete construction on the athletic plant at Trimble road and Route 30 N but also to provide it with equipment that would give Mansfield one of the finest high school athletic fields in Ohio.

Depends on Success.

The entire program is contingent on successful carrying-out of the tickets for interest financing plan.

Arlin cited the skyrocketing public interest in the Tygers as motivating the decision to push the stadium to early completion.

The present Tyger stadium has only 4,000 permanent seats. By use of chairs and temporary stands, athletic officials have accommodated much larger crowds at each of the Tyger games this year.

Paid admissions for the Marion Harding game were 6,666, East Cleveland 6,426, and Sandusky 6,657. Standing room tickets for the Sandusky game alone totaled 818.

For tonight's Massillon game, standing room sales may exceed 2,000. Athletic officials predict a crowd exceeding 8,000.

Arlin expressed confidence the

CHECKS FRAUD

FBI Probing Kansas City Voting Irregularities.

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation turned its spotlight today on alleged vote fraud in the Democratic primary election last August in President Truman's home county where a political unknown, backed by the president and the Pendergast Democratic organization, defeated Rep. Roger C. Slaughter for renomination in Missouri's congressional fifth district.

The FBI began its investigation following an independent one by the Kansas City Star which resulted in a series of stories containing charges of irregularities at the polls.

1 Dies When Fire Sweeps Apartment

SAN FRANCISCO —(INS)—One man was dead today as the result of a fire which swept a San Francisco apartment house and sent the occupants fleeing to the street. The fire broke out shortly before last midnight.

Charles Peters, 55, was found dead in a smoke-filled corridor outside his apartment. Two women were carried down ladders from third floor windows, while 17 other families fled to safety unaided.

OHIO POLITICAL TEMPO RISING

Opposing Candidates Loosen Verbal Brickbat Barrage.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The tempo of Ohio's political campaign rose to fever pitch today as Thomas J. Herbert, Republican candidate for governor, answered two of Gov. Lausche's challenges at the same time Lausche hurled a third.

Meanwhile, U. S. Sen. James W. Huffman, a Lausche appointee, demanded that his opponent, former Gov. John W. Bricker, state whether he would spend his time in Washington if elected, and Lt. Gov. George D. Nye accused former Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert, the man who opposes Nye's re-election bid, of smear tactics.

Bricker devoted much of an address at Elyria to a declaration that President Truman's decontrol of meat "will not deceive" the people.

At Cleveland, Tom Herbert, a former attorney general, denied Gov. Lausche claim of an illegal change in a state brandy contract with the assertion that "liquor prices, like everything else, were frozen under OPA regulations." He defended his prosecution of Youngstown rackets with a reminder that 31 ringleaders in the rackets were indicted.

The governor, however, swung his guns on a new target when he asserted that some of the companies whose "unsound" securities were barred from Ohio sale by his administration were contributing to the Republican campaign fund.

Former Lieut. Col. Fejima Ruizo, a Soviet prisoner of war, said under cross examination, that he saw the general staff order concerning the invasion plans for 1941 and 1942. He added that the document said that the plans had "received the sanction of the throne."

$35,000 NECK INJURY

Scotland Yard Combs World In Gem Search

LONDON—(UP)—Scotland yard today broadened its hunt for a cat burglar fleeing with $100,000 worth of the Duchess of Windsor's jewels into a worldwide search for operatives of an international gang of gem thieves.

Yard experts feared the robbery marked the reappearance of international gangs of jewel thieves who cost European society millions of dollars between the two World wars.

Estimates of the value of the missing gems ranged from $80,000 by the Windsors' attorney, to $2,000,000 by the London Daily Mail.

Seek Fingerprints.

Police based their main hope on $120,000 worth of the jewels which the thieves apparently dropped while escaping. Fingerprint experts worked over the stones for hours, but would not say whether any prints had been discovered.

Yard investigators indicated that warnings to ports and airfields might have been quick enough to seal the jewels inside England, but they are taking no chances. Messages flashed all night from yard headquarters to pawnbrokers and dealers all over the world. Police headquarters in all continental countries were asked to watch all known jewel "fences."

Book Reveals FDR's Desire to Resign in 1940.

NEW YORK —(INS)— The late Franklin D. Roosevelt came within an inch of not being America's wartime president, Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, surgeon general of the navy, reveals in a book, "White House Physician," which goes into the bookstalls next week.

Admiral McIntire discloses that the 1940 cry of "phony draft" and intra-party resentment over Henry A. Wallace's nomination for vice president so annoyed the late president that he dictated a statement withdrawing and ordered it released to the press.

Only the combined efforts of a small group of his intimates finally dissuaded him.

Two Million Collegians Jam Schools

CINCINNATI — (AP) — An all-time peak of about 2,000,000 students, including 800,000 veterans of World War II—are enrolled in the nation's universities, colleges and technical schools, Dr. Raymond Walters, president of the University of Cincinnati, reported today.

He said reports from 450 schools in all sections of the country, submitted for his November tabulation for "School and Society," educational journal, show that institutions from the smallest church colleges to huge state and urban universities "are crowded literally to the walls of their classrooms, laboratories and dormitories."

A listing of enrollments for "typical" schools included the following Ohio institutions:

Ohio State, 24,000, up 34 per cent; University of Akron, 3,203, up 145 per cent men and 21 per cent women; Cincinnati, 7,300, up 44 per cent men and 32 per cent women, and Toledo, 4,300, up 510 per cent men.

CONVENTION ENDS

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The Ohio district of the Kiwanis club concludes its 29th convention here today.

Frost to Follow Heaviest Downpour In Recent Months

Rain was scheduled to give way to clearing skies, strong winds and frost tonight as Mansfielders today shook out their umbrellas after one of the heaviest rains in several months.

The Hayesville weather station reported 1.78 inches of rain up to 8 a. m. Intermittent showers continued later in the day.

The heavy rainfall flooded many streets as the fall accumulation of leaves clogged sewers. Street corners in many sections of the city resembled small lakes.

At least one automobile accident was attributed to the rain, and telephone service was slowed in some parts of the city.

City workmen were called out to clear plugged sewers on Park avenue west between Walnut and Mulberry, where a miniature flood held up traffic during the morning rush hour.

Storm warnings were posted for Lake Erie as the weather bureau predicted that winds ranging up to 30 miles an hour were to sweep the area.

A storm of some intensity was reported moving northeastward and all air flights west out of Cleveland were cancelled. Eastbound flights, however, still were moving on schedule.

FUND CAMPAIGN FALLING BEHIND

Pledges Slacken With Drive at Half-Way Mark.

Goal	$94,067
Raised	$45,409
Needed	$48,658

Mansfield's Community Fund campaign was half over today, but receipts were $1,624 short of the half-way mark.

Pledges to noon today amounted to $45,409. The drive ends next Wednesday.

W. E. Slabaugh, general chairman of the campaign, reported that reports from division heads were coming in "very slowly" and that "it is apparent that it will be a battle to make the goal this year." Slabaugh added, however, that division heads were confident of attaining the goal.

The up-town division topped industry for the first time in receipts today with $2,769 to industry's $2,450. Up-town to date has a total of $16,775 reported toward the goal of $32,430. Industry has a total of $28,634 toward a $63,000 quota.

Women's division still held the lead in the up-town group with $3,607 in receipts reported.

Other division totals are: auto, $352; construction, $842; education, $1,002, financial, $2,980; food, $1,768; public employes, $532; public service, $732; retail, $1,966.

Sun Glow Industries and the Renie Metal Products company were added today to the list of those industries which had pledged their full quota. Dominion Electric corporation reported a pledge of $1,500, representing 50 per cent more than last year's contribution and more than given during any of the war years.

Mayor, Too, Goes House Hunting

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn joined the growing throng of Mansfield house hunters today.

He got one of those notices to move.

The mayor will have more time to find another house than a lot of folks have had, but he figures he may need it.

He's been told to vacate his home at 139 Prospect street next April 8. He has a farm, but it's outside town and he can't very well move there and continue to be a resident of the city, he explained.

DYING FATHER FACES CHARGE

Condition of Killer of Wife and Son Reported as 'Poor.'

As Michael Kalis, 52-year-old steel worker, hovered today between life and death in Mansfield General hospital, Police Chief Meade K. Bates said Kalis, if he survived, would face a first degree murder charge for the pistol slaying of his wife and eldest son.

Kalis shot himself in the head yesterday morning after a family quarrel in which he allegedly shot to death his wife, Helen, 42, and a son, John, 20.

Hospital attendants reported his condition had taken a turn for the worse. Last night he was "improved," but today his condition was described as "poor."

Officers said he shot himself in the right side of the head, the .38 caliber bullet passing directly behind the eyes.

Following Argument.

The tragedy occurred at the Kalis home, 388 Springmill street, following an argument between the son and the father, police said.

Kalis was reported by a neighbor to have shouted during the argument:

"I'll shoot you in the head!"

Dr. D. C. Lavender, county coroner, held an inquest yesterday afternoon at which verdicts of death by hemorrhage were returned in the slaying of Mrs. Kalis and her son.

Mrs. Kalis was wounded three times, once in the chest and twice

POISON SOURCE STILL MYSTERY

Official Explodes Body Cut Theory in Goering Death.

NUERNBERG —(INS)— The commandant of the Nuernberg jail exploded today the theory that a tiny cut unofficially reported to have been found on Germann Goering's abdomen after his suicide had concealed a capsule of cyanide.

The commandant, Col. Burton C. Andrus, pointed out that the cut was described as only one inch in length, whereas the brass cartridge case which held the vial of poison was two inches long.

The original report from an unofficial source said an examination of the body showed blood in the region of the navel and that further investigation revealed the narrow cut.

The board of three anonymous army officers which is investigating the suicide was believed today to be preparing a report to the Allied Control council in Berlin.

'You'll Be Sorry,' Declares Eleanor

NEW YORK —(INS)— Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt believes that the lifting of wartime controls was a mistake and that sooner or later the citizenry "will become indignant."

The former first lady so declared in an exclusive interview with International News Service, adding: "The way prices have gone up in the past few days tends to prove it. The great majority of people simply can't afford to pay these prices. A few will get meat—but not 'the people.'"

COST OF MEAT TO SKID SOON, DEALERS SAY

Most OPA Restrictions Set to Go Nov. 1, Leaving Control to Buyers.

Mansfield dairies knocked 10 cents a pound off the wholesale price of butter today, and butchers predicted that meat prices would start dropping early next week.

The retail butter price also dropped. Stores posted prices ranging from four to six cents less per pound and at least one store that sold butter at $1 a pound a week ago offered it at 87 cents today.

The butter decrease coincided with an announcement that most of OPA's price restrictions will be scrapped by Nov. 1.

Dairymen here said that the butter mark-down follows a 10-cent drop on the Chicago cream market.

Chicken Cheaper Now.

Chicken, principal meat substitute during the shortage, dropped an average of three cents per pound this week at produce markets, which predicted an even greater drop in the next two weeks.

Grocers, who counted themselves lucky if they could get chicken the past month, said they had stopped buying poultry "because the public was fed up on it."

Meat dealers, who have already seen a reluctance on the part of customers to pay higher prices for certain cuts, predicted prices would drop "considerably" as stockyards filled up.

Meanwhile, a slowly expiring OPA boosted prices of fruit preserves, jams, jellies and apple butter one to two cents a pound amid

CALLS SPECIAL COUNCIL MEET

Mayor Wants Action on Navy Armory, Weather Station.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn today called a special meeting of city council for next Tuesday to consider an accumulation of legislation he feels can't wait for the regular meeting Nov. 5.

Legislation expected to go before council Tuesday night includes a discussion of the site for the new navy armory in Mansfield.

It has been proposed that the structure could be erected near the site of the present armory. The city owns 10½ acres of land there and could easily lease four acres required by the navy for a site, it was pointed out.

Legislation is also expected to be handled concerning the conversion of the small building north of the Sky club at the airport for the housing of a weather station, now at Hayesville.

The building must be remodeled to meet Civil Aeronautics authority standards and transformers will have to be provided to furnish power. No estimate has been made of the cost.

What is needed, it is felt, is authority to purchase hard to get material on the open market so as to speed the operation.

ALL EYES FOCUS ON MANSFIELD

Tyger-Tiger Tilt Heads Grid Card

There are approximately 300 high school football games scheduled for consumption in Ohio tonight but all eyes are focused on Mansfield for the Tygers' battle with powerful Washington high school of Massillon.

The tilt easily rates as the top scholastic clash of the week with a possible slick field not dampening the spirits of the gridders or the 7,000 odd spectators who will jam the Mansfield athletic field. Mansfield is ranked second in Ohio with Massillon sixth.

Reports from Senior high school this morning said that the Stadium field gridiron was in good condition for the conflict although the ground would be soft. Both clubs played on slipper fields last week, Mansfield beating Springfield, 33-0, and Massillon rolling over Alliance, 19-0.

Coach Paul Snyder said this morning, "We are ready for the Tigers regardless of the weather."

Members of the Tyger varsity squad elected Ollie Cline, back and Bob Rondy, tackle, co-captains for the Massillon game at a team meeting Thursday afternoon. Cline will be making his third appearance and Rondy his second against the Washington high aggregation.

Snyder's squad is in good shape for the tilt and Mansfield will go with the same crew that took Portsmouth and Springfield in the last two fusses. However, Tom Emerson, who saw his first action of the season against Springfield, is scheduled to see a lot of action as a replacement for Dave Wentz at center.

Alliance banged Massillon up last week although all of the Tiger regulars, with the exception of Gene Krisher, tackle, and Gene Yost, back, are primed for action. Houghton will field an all-veteran outfit which has looked mighty good since losing its opener to Cleveland Cathedral Latin.

Massillon has played a slightly tougher schedule than Snyder's outfit but the visitors have proved that they can be beaten while five schoolboy elevens have failed to mar the Mansfield record.

The lines of the two teams stack up pretty even although the all-around running power of the Tyger backs give them a slight edge in that department if a slick pigskin keeps passing at a minimum. Kenny Horvath, Ralph Majors and Bill McKee can do a lot of leather toting and Cline looked good last week running from the single-wing.

HERE'S SOME CANDID SHOTS OF THE MASSILLON WASHINGTON HIGH SCHOOL 1946 GRID AGGREGATION

Gene Zorger, touted as the classiest visiting back to invade Stadium field this year, leads the Tiger ground offensive. Alex Giloff gives Zorger good support and Al Brown, subbing for Dan Byelene, passer, raced 61 yards for a score against Alliance.

If the ball is dry enough to pass a fine duel might develop between Cline and Byelene. Mansfield has had to pass very little this season and Cline has hit eight of 14 tosses. Washington high passes frequently with Byelene pitching to Jack Zellar, end, or Zorger.

Massillon rolled over Mansfield 40 to 6 last season and has never been beaten by the Tygers. The all-time record reads 12 Washington high victories and two deadlocks.

Houghton's Tigers were unbeaten in 1945, although they were held to five ties in ten games, while Mansfield copped five of nine games.

Bucks Seek First Big Nine Victory

BILL DOOLITTLE GETS STARTING OSU BERTH

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A light, 20-minute workout was on tap today for Ohio State's Bucks who will seek their first Western conference victory Saturday against Purdue before a sell-out crowd of 75,000 here.

Coach Paul Bixler put finishing touches on his offense during an hour workout in a drizzling rain last night, and all his first stringers were in condition to start.

Only assured change in the starting lineup will be at quarterback where Billy Doolittle, 202-pound Mansfielder who starred on the 1942 unbeaten freshman team before going to the South Pacific with the marines, was tagged to replace Dick Palmer. Palmer's speed has suffered from an ankle injury in last Saturday's Wisconsin game.

Halfback Jerry Krall, whom Bixler had been eyeing as a possible successor to Tommy James in the starting backfield, developed a foot infection that kept him out of yesterday's practice, but probably will be in shape for some action Saturday, Trainer Ernie Biggs said.

Purdue's team was due here today. The Boilermakers' ace passer, Quarterback Bob DeMoss, who tossed six completions in a row when the Indiana eleven whipped an unbeaten Ohio State team 35-13 last year, has a dislocated shoulder from practice scrimmage.

Four of the ten top teams in the nation hook up tomorrow in two of the day's better games and three others will be meeting undefeated opponents. Two of the remaining three will be risking perfect records against clubs that are capable of producing upsets.

The only major eleven among the unbeaten powers whose shiny record is in no danger of losing its luster this week-end is Notre Dame, No. 2 in the current rankings. The Irish have an open date.

Army, back at its old stand top the national rankings after making Michigan its fourth victim of the season and the 22nd in an unbroken string, takes on an invading Columbia team that has won its first three starts to gain the 11th spot in the country-wide rankings.

Alabama, ranked seventh this week, moves in against Tennessee, the No. 9 team, for a bout that may settle the Southeastern conference championship. Both are all-victorious and should have smooth sailing after tomorrow, with the winner almost certain to get a major bowl bid.

Michigan, ranked fifth despite its setback by Army, entertains an unbeaten Northwestern team in the midwest's top attraction. The Big Nine title might well be hanging on the outcome of this struggle.

Texas, winner of its first four ilts and the present No. 3 club, will be challenged in its first outhwest conference test by an nvading Arkansas outfit that is nbeaten in four starts although led by Oklahoma A. and M.

Keiser Two Under

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — (U.P.) — Herman Keiser, Akron, O., was one stroke ahead of his nearest competitor and only two strokes under par as the field teed off today in the third round of the $10,000 Knoxville Open golf tournament.

Pioneers Top Mt. Vernon

MT. VERNON — Mansfield Johnny Appleseed junior high school extended its three game winning streak here yesterday afternoon by defeating the Mt. Vernon junior high team, 13 to 6.

Coach Norm Henline's squad got off to an early start as Howard Tipper went off tackle in the first minutes of the game and raced 60 yards for touchdown. Charles Marchant plunged for the extra point.

S. Imel passed 5 yards to Bair for Mt. Vernon's lone score and in the final period Tipper heaved a 40-yard aerial to Jim Anderson over the goal line.

Boxing Ducats Go on Sale

Tickets for next Wednesday's fight show at the Armory were placed on sale today.

Ducats are available at City News, Hunt News, Park Avenue News, Dick Jones' club, Ritz club and Stone's Grill. The show will feature a double main-go. Mansfield's Dick Alexander collides with Johnny Bryant, Massillon, and Wally Barkley, Massillon, meets Lefty Lou Williams, Dayton, in the eight-round headliners.

Promoters Rex Reese and Sam Miller have signed Johnny Ross, Massillon, against Phil Scott, Marion, in the four-round opener.

Thirty-Five Eagles Make Trip to Springfield

ASHLAND—Thirty-five Eagles from Ashland college will leave for Springfield at 9 a. m. tomorrow morning where they will face a strong Wittenberg eleven tomorrow afternoon.

Mansfielder Al Schwaner, Eagles quarterback will miss the game because of a trick knee received in the Ohio Northern game earlier this season.

LAUSCHE LAUDS WELFARE WORK

Tells Galion Audience Great Progress Has Been Made.

GALION — Gov. Frank J. Lausche declared in a campaign address last night in the Senior high school auditorium that "in the last 21 months the state department of welfare has made more progress than was made in the preceding 21 years."

Speaking at a Democratic rally for Crawford county, Gov. Lausche said he would "lead the fight" to restore in part what the serviceman lost while he was serving in the armed forces.

"The people owe something to those men who fought for us and earned far less money doing it than the people who stayed at home," he said.

The governor repeated a challenge issued Wednesday at Van Wert, and demanded an explanation "from Herbert and Bricker" of the "Amos and Andy" deal, a transaction by which he charged that brandy had been purchased in 1943 at an "illegal" price increase.

Gov. Lausche was introduced by Robert L. Moulton, of Galion, director of the state commerce department. Mayor R. L. Hertzer, of Bucyrus, Crawford county Democratic executive committee chairman, presided.

FIND OLD BONES

SMITHTON, Tasmania—(U.P.)—Part of the remains of an extinct giant marsupial have been discovered near here. After examining large bone fragments and teeth, Prof. E. V. Ralston of Tasmanian University said the animal resembled a rhinoceros and roamed this area during the Pleistocene period 1,000,000 years ago.

RING GOES IN DRAIN

CLEVELAND —(INS)— The home of Mrs. Hilda Roseman, 52, of Cleveland, was pretty well messed-up today. Mrs. Roseman had plumbers tear up basement pipes and the bathroom in efforts to locate an $1,800 ring which had been flushed through the drain pipe, according to detectives who were called to investigate.

CHINESE REDS REJECT TRUCE

Nation Again Faces Bitter Full-Scale Civil War.

NANKING —(INS)— China was plunged again today into the gloomy prospect of suicidal full-scale civil war as the top-ranking Communist governing body turned down Chiang Kai-shek's latest proposals designed to unify the nation.

The Yenan general committee, turning its back on Chinese government, American mediators and Third party recommendations, seemed determined to rush headlong down the path toward an unpatchable national split by stubbornly refusing to compromise.

The Communist high councils refused to budge from the advantages they won in the Jan. 10 agreement which brought about the first truce in China's civil war, an agreement the Communists are charged with violating first.

Although the generalissimo's latest proposals conceded many of the Communist political points won in the Jan. 10 agreement, the government insisted on a realistic acceptance of occupied areas as they now stand.

The Communists are insisting that the government forces withdraw to the areas they occupied on Jan. 10, thus invalidating the government military successes of the last three months.

Two motorists were fined $60 and costs in Municipal court today for traffic violations and a third defendant was held under $1,000 bond on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Alton L. Sherman, 75 Ashland road, pleaded guilty to failure to yield the right-of-way and was fined $10 and costs.

Garland H. Bennett, Mansfield, R. D. 4 pleaded guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle with a license issued for another vehicle and was fined $50 and costs.

The case of John Anderson, 232 North Diamond street, charged with carrying concealed weapons, was continued until tomorrow. He was held in city jail under $1,000 bond.

CAFE BURNS

Arsonists Start New Wave of Trouble in Holy Land.

JERUSALEM—(U.P.)—A Jewish-owned luxury cafe was set ablaze today by unidentified persons and the incident reportedly touched off an outbreak of violent reprisals.

The arsonists overpowered the watchman of the Empire cafe and set fire to one whole floor of the establishment. Firemen struggled to bring the flames under control. There were unconfirmed reports that police had questioned several soldiers in connection with the incident.

Meanwhile a British police inspector died from bullet wounds believed to have been inflicted by Jewish Stern gang extremists and three British soldiers were reported injuried seriously when their car struck a mine.

Saud Says Truman Broke His Promise

LONDON — (INS) — King Ibn Saud of Saudi-Arabia accused President Truman today of breaking a promise and disturbing present conditions by his recent demand for immediate settlement of 100,000 Jewish refugees in Palestine.

The Saudi-Arabian legation in London released the letter from Ibn Saud to the president. The king said Truman has acted "without any due regard to all the previous promises given the Arabs."

He claimed that President Truman had promised not to advance any proposals concerning Palestine.

BLAMES RAIN IN ACCIDENT

Crestline Man Hurt When Car Dives Into Puddle.

Arthur Vaughn, jr., 21, Crestline, who suffered lacerations of the mouth and a possible broken leg in an automobile accident early today, was reported in good condition at Mansfield General hospital.

Vaughn told police he drove into a water puddle on Park avenue west near West Park drive about 1:30 a. m., losing control of the vehicle, which struck a telephone pole.

A passenger, Robert Hoffman, Crestline, suffered a sprained ankle in the accident.

A skidding motorcycle yesterday resulted in abrasions of the right leg to its operator, Eugene Gollehon, 20, of 137 South Main street.

Gollehon told police he skidded into an automobile driven by Mark M. Mandusic, Crestline R. D. 2, when double-parked autos obscured the vision of Mandusic as he was emerging from Walnut alley into North Main street.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

A DUCK'S LIFE

Old Pintail, the handsome Duck with a long tail, had joined Mr. and Mrs. Quack the Mallard Ducks and Mrs. Black Duck in the rice bed along the Big River. Mrs. Black Duck had nested in the neighborhood but the others had just arrived from the great nesting grounds of the north and were stopping over to rest on their way to the Sunny South to spend the winter. Old Pintail had arrived alone. Mrs. Pintail had been shot the day before he told the others sadly. "It is a wonder I am here myself," he concluded. He held up a wing. A flight feather was missing. It had been shot away

"It is a wonder that any of us are here," declared Mr. Quack.

Mrs. Quack nodded agreement. "Things are bad enough for we older ones who have learned through sad experience what dangers to look for and how to at least try to avoid them, but I wonder that any young Duck making the long journey for the first time lives to return to the nesting grounds."

"So do I," said Old Pintail. "If things keep on the way they are now the time will come when none will. Have you noticed how much smaller the flocks going south are this fall?"

"We were talking about that when you came in," said Mrs. Quack. "Just take my own case. In the spring when Mr. Quack and I reached the place where we had always nested there was no water. All about the little ponds and marshes had dried up. There had been no rain for a long time. We had to go on until we found water. Of course all the others who use to nest where we did had to do the same thing. So the places where there was water were crowded. There wasn't room enough for so many. I couldn't find a place to hide my nest. A Crow found it. He managed to get three of my ten eggs. The very day the babies left the nest Blackback the Gull caught one of the darlings. He had been watching for those eggs to hatch. I did my best to keep an eye on all the others and to teach them what dangers to watch for, but just before they were big enough to fly one was caught by a Hawk. By the time those left could fly and were ready to make the long flight south they had learned who the hunters in fur and feathers are to watch for and where to look for them and how to avoid them. I could teach them these things and had done so. They were as smart young Ducks as ever lifted a wing." Mrs. Quack paused as her three children came out of the rice to join the group.

"But you couldn't teach them where to look for and how keep away from those two-legged hunters with fire-sticks,' said Pintail.

"No," said Mrs. Quack sadly. "Mr. Quack and I have learned many of the places to keep away from and they are the very best places, the places where there is the best and the most food. To rest and eat we chose places where we never before had found one of those hunters."

"But you found them there this time," said Pintail.

Mrs. Quack nodded "Yes, we found them there. In one, a place we had always found perfectly safe, one of the children was killed and in another we left one badly hurt, so hurt he couldn't fly. The last we saw of him he was swimming toward some rushes to hide, but we heard the bang of one of those fire-sticks behind us."

"Which means that you will never see him again," said Old Pintail. "It was in one of those places that always had been safe that I lost Mrs Pintail."

"I dread the rest of the long flight," continued Mrs. Quack. "If it were not for a few places along the way, where for some reason I do not know there never are any of those two-legged hunters, I wouldn't have much hope left. Those places will be too crowded for comfort and because of so many there probably won't be food enough for all, but we can at least rest there without fear."

"I know them," said Old Pintail. "I shall head for them. In fact I think I'll spend the winter in one of them There should be more of such places, many more."

STOCKS HOLD TO DOWNWARD TREND TODAY

Brokers Find Buyers Still in Cautious Mood After Thursday's Dip.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The general direction continued downward in today's stock market although liquidation never was urgent.

A steadier tone of recently weak commodities and livestock proped sentiment to a certain extent although brokers found most of their customers still in a cautious mood after Thursday's dip.

Backward tendencies were displayed by Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Pennsylvania railroad, Southern Pacific, United Aircraft, Dow Chemical, Kennecott and Westinghouse Electric. Resistant were American Can, Great Northern, Philip Morris, Woolworth and Union Carbide.

BUTTER PRICES CUT 10 CENTS

Meat Cost to Begin Dropping Next Week, Dealers Say.

authoritative reports that controls will be lifted in a few days on flour and bread.

The drop of the many commodities, service and foods from OPA jurisdiction Nov. 1 will come two months or more earlier than had been planned before President Truman's meat decision.

Price lids, however, are scheduled to remain on rents, automobiles, building materials, refrigerators, furniture, basic clothing items and farm implements, the Associated Press said, reporting these major developments:

1. Coffee went off the controlled list completely.

2. The price ceiling for men's white handkerchiefs was hoisted from seven to 14 cents.

3. The first of 500,000 lean young Mexican beef cattle began to move toward the fattening pastures and ranges in the southwest United States.

4. The nation's livestock markets were jammed. Prices collapsed from $1 to $10 a hundred pounds yesterday. Eggs also dropped

5. Administration leaders, forecasting a congressional drive aimed at junking all controls (including rents and the veterans housing program), agreed that the entire OPA staff of 34,000 and its functions must be slashed to the bone before the lawmakers convene in January.

Push Wage Plea

6. Labor members of the wage stabilization board renewed their demands on the White House to kill all wage controls immediately.

7. The CIO cost of living committee assailed rising meat prices and declared that "millions of miners, railroad, steel and other workers will lack important ingredients in their diet."

8. Automotive production, still under controls, slumped to 239,140 units during September, a drop of 2,162 from August. The civilian production administration blamed shortages in sheet steel, pigiron, copper and lead.

Tickets-for-Interest Finance Plan Disclosed

north stands of the new athletic plant, seating 6,000, would be completed by January 1. A fund of $120,000 was raised to finance those stands and floodlights, fence and the practice and game fields, and install the watering system and sewage.

Outline of Plan.

Arlin gave this outline of the plan for borrowing the additional $150,000 estimated as needed to provide 6,000 seats in a south stand and complete equipment of the plant.

For each $500 note the lender will receive (without cost) two season tickets in a preferred location for the tenure of the note. In addition the lender will be priviledged to purchase two additional season books for seats adjacent to the free ducats.

Dr. D. A. Weir, member of the Tyger booster club board of directors, heads a committee to raise funds for the stadium. Anyone interested in participating in the project may contact Dr. Weir or George Sherman, secretary-treasurer of the athletic association.

Equipment planned includes team facilities (dressing rooms, showers, toilets, a band room, equipment room, football class room, coach and officials room, public toilet facilities and a concession area.

Members of the athletic association are Arlin, Sherman, W. L. Miller, superintendent of schools; Glenn Rohleder, Senior high principal; Harry Mehock, director of athletics in Mansfield schools; Fred Staub, faculty manager of athletics, and Paul Snyder, Vern Hoffman and Jimmy Lymper, Tyger coaches.

TRAIN WRECKS

4 Killed, 40 Hurt; Officials Suspect Sabotage.

COLOMBO, Ceylon —(CP)— Authorities reported today that four persons were killed and 40 injured in a wreck of a mail train believed to have been caused by sabotage.

The train, which left Colombo last night, was derailed in the jungle. Reports said plates had been removed from the ties and sections of rails dislodged.

Three coaches were telescoped, and freight cars attached to the locomotive were destroyed.

More than a quarter of a million people are admitted annually to U. S. mental institutions.

Officer Inspects Navy Station Here

Commander James R. Anderson, USNR, of Columbus is making an inspection tour of the Mansfield naval recruiting sub-station today, J. T. Daley, CCM, said today.

An itinerary for recruiters is soon to be announced, men interested in enlisting in the navy, or the navy's V-6 categories, are asked to call at the Mansfield station in the postoffice or to watch for the schedule of their travelling recruiter, Daley said.

FATHER-SLAYER FACES CHARGE

Condition of Killer of Wife and Son Reported 'Poor.'

in the back, Dr. Lavender said. Her son, John, was shot once in the left side, the bullet penetrating the large vessel just above the heart, the coroner said.

Died Near Each Other.

Mrs. Kalis fell, fatally wounded, after she plunged down the front porch steps as she fled in a futile effort to escape.

Police said Kalis apparently fired through the screen door. An eye-witness said the berserk father then stepped to the foot of the porch steps and pumped a final round into his wife's body.

John was shot in the kitchen. He stumbled through the house to the front porch, where he died a scant 30 feet from his mother. Blood marked his trail.

Police said bullet holes in the kitchen indicated that the father fired several other shots which missed their mark, possibly eight in all, and reloaded his pistol once.

Home in Shambles.

The first floor of the modest semi-detached Kalis home was a shambles. Mrs. Kalis, who was in the basement washing clothes when the shooting began, apparently dashed up the stairs to the telephone to summon aid.

Phone Torn Away.

The telephone was torn from the living room wall. A trail of blood led from the kitchen, where John was shot, to the porch.

Detective F. Bruce Friday said he had learned that Kalis had been treated at a Mansfield sanitarium for a "nervous condition" aud had been under a doctor's care on several occasions.

Kalis was employed at the Empire Steel corporation and was reported to have worked until Monday. He moved here from West Virginia six years ago.

Surviving members of the family are two daughters, Virginia, 25, and Christ, 22, employed at local grocery stores, and a son, Russell, 18, who is in the army and stationed at Ft, Monmouth, N. J.

The daughters told police that their father and brother were in bed when they left the home about two hours before the shooting. They said they could not recall any "arguments" during the preceding 24 hours.

John was a Marine veteran and was wounded in action in the Pacific theater during the war. He was employed at the Park theater.

Double funeral services for Mrs. Kalis and her son will be held at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Greek Orthodox church, 138 North Main street. The Rev. Danos Goygotas, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

The bodies will be at the Kalis home until services tomorrow.

In addition to her immediate family, Mrs. Kalis leaves her mother and two brothers in Greece.

Livestock Receipts Show Sharp Decline

CHICAGO —(AP)— Receipts of livestock at the nation's terminal markets dropped off heavily today in preparation for the usual weekend closing of packing plants.

The early top price on hogs was $23.50, the same as yesterday. Cattle and sheep were lower.

The 12 principal markets received an estimated 45,900 hogs, compared with 135,000 yesterday, and 4,037 a week ago. Cattle were estimated at 53,300 against 86,800 yesterday and 9,192 a week ago.

GIDEONS OPEN TWO-DAY RALLY HERE SATURDAY

State President and Canton Chorus to Attend Mansfield Meeting.

Gideons from Ashland, Bucyrus, Marion, Mt. Vernon and Wooster are expected to attend the two-day rally of the organization that opens Saturday night at First United Brethren church, Park avenue east.

Sponsored by the Richland County Gideons, headed by R. V. Hoover, 229 Bartley avenue, the rally will be highlighted by the appearance of the state president, John W. Lamey, of Alliance, and the Gideon male chorus of Canton. Lamey will speak Saturday at 7:45 p. m., at the opening session.

Other state officers expected are Paul M. Kauth, of Canton, vice president; Carl P. Gombert, of New Philadelphia, chaplain; and Hobart Cashell of Mansfield, trustee.

A special event will be the dedication of 4,000 Gideon testaments for distribution to Richland county schools.

On Sunday, Gideon speakers will tell of their work in approximately 30 churches in the city and county, following consecration service at 8 a. m.

Officially known as the Christian Commercial Men's Association of America, the Gideons have placed more than 2,500,000 Bibles in hotels, hospitals, schools and other public institutions throughout the United States, Canada and foreign countries. During World War II, the Gideon association distributed more than 9,000,000 testabents to the men and women of the armed forces, through contributions from laymen and churches.

The oldest interdenominational laymen's evangelistic association in the world, the Gideons were organized in Janesville, Wis., on July 1, 1899, and Bible distribution was begun in November.

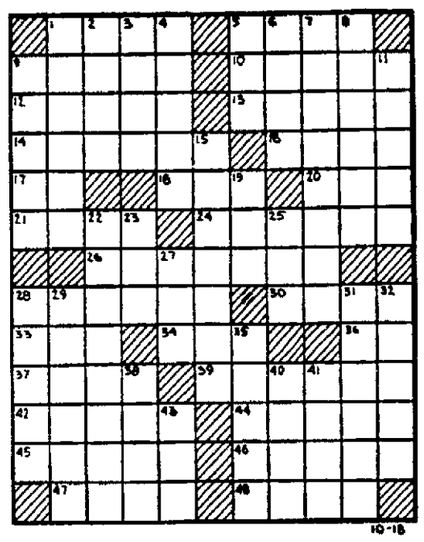
Yesterday's Answer



'Little Kindnesses' Needed In War-Torn World, Club Told

Individuals should strive to attain the "little kindnesses that bind people together," Atty. John F. Kramer told Rotary club members at a luncheon yesterday in the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

"It is clear that with all our teaching, all our preaching and all our talking, we still have a lot to learn to live together," he said.

Kramer asserted there is something "radically wrong" in the present age that the world has fought two of the greatest wars in history "not against heathens and barbarians, but against Christians.

"In addition," he said. "Our courts of common pleas spend most of their time hearing about divorces and our probate courts spend most of their time hearing about juvenile delinquencies."

The Mansfield attorney also lashed out against what he termed "bureaucratic government." He said America has "handcuffed just about every last principle that has made our people great, and today you can't do a thing without running to Washington."

Rev. Charles W. Stoneburner, pastor of the First Methodist church, and H. Eugene Ryan, attorney, formerly of Mountain Grove, Mo., were welcomed into the club by W. C. Mansfield.

Home Ransacked While In Jail

While Marie Fox, 150 West Sixth street, was in city jail pending hearing on a disorderly conduct charge, someone ransacked her home, stole $20 and "smeared ketchup" around the place.

That's what she reported to police following her release on $25 bond yesterday for appearance in municipal court Monday. The intruders also tore the telephone wires loose, she said.

USES Workers Visit Plants

To better acquaint themselves with jobs for which they recruit workers, personnel of the U. S. Employment office in Mansfield yesterday afternoon made a tour of the Ideal Electric Manufacturing plant.

The workers had previously visited the Farm Tools, Humphryes Manufacturing company, and Dominion Electric company plants.

The tours were instituted at the suggestion of John Floyd, employment manager of the Barnes Manufacturing company and Sam Shapiro, employment manager of the Dominion Electric company, at a meeting of employment and personnel managers, Handley said.

PUBLISHERS MEET

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Between 35 and 50 publishers were expected here today for a meeting of the newly organized Ohio weeklies ,Inc., Walter D. Shank, general manager, announced.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

Book publishers' publicity departments often send out the silliest and most insipid material about their authors — routine drivel that editors hurl into the trash basket without a second thought. Occasionally, however, one hard-pressed publicist has a real inspiration.

Rinehart and company, for instance, certainly did right by their volcanic author, Philip Wylie, when they distributed a monograph about him by Maggie Harriman, so clever and quotable that a hundred newspapers printed excerpts from it.

"Bad writers," she concluded, "usually can't wait to express themselves, but for most of the good ones, like Wylie, the act of composition is a form of torture, rigidly self-imposed. One awe-struck colleague remarked, 'When Phil comes to grips with literature, boy, he don't fool with it.'

"He is a born crusader, viewing his own violence with a certain humorous detachment. 'You are God's Angry Man,' a friend told him. "Oh, I don't know,' said Wylie. 'Maybe I'm God's Little Acher.'"

"What's your candid opinion of my novel?" asked an author anxiously. "It's worthless," was the blunt reply. "I know," persisted the author, "but I'd like it anyhow."

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1946

Word comes that "the boarding house reach" is obsolete—there being nothing much to reach for.

No matter how long vacation is, it seems to be still the same old world when a fellow gets back into the harness.

There seems to be some quibbling, at the moment, as to which of the great political parties is "going bankrupt"—with probability that both will pull through.

Meat Customers Are Asking the Price

THERE HAS been meat in sight in the markets for the past couple of days, and—as might have been expected—the rush of anxious buyers (at any price) has somewhat subsided.

In fact some of the retail meat dealers report, in a surprised sort of way, that at least a few of their customers have resumed the almost abandoned practice of asking the price—and the price is admittedly considerably higher, although there is unanimity of promise that this will "level off" within another few weeks as supplies start catching up with demands.

And there's promise of an almost immediate betterment of the soap situation—which will be expedited if everyone will be content to buy only sufficient to meet immediate needs instead of rushing around to get all they can find.

As to sugar, however, the picture isn't so bright, reports being to the effect that the 1946 world production is the tiniest it has been for a quarter of a century, and, due to larger allocations to Europe, America's share of Cuba's cane crop will be smaller than last year. Increase in the domestic beet sugar output will not be sufficient to bridge the gap. It appears that return of an adequate supply of sugar must await restoration of production in the Philippines and Indonesia—which can't be expected soon.

It seems advisable, therefore, to continue the annoying rationing of sugar for awhile, in order to equalize distribution—rather than opening the way to such profiteering as was indulged in after the first World war, when the retail price of sugar was jumped, for a time, to 32 cents a pound.

It is the successive increases in milk prices that is now causing a disturbed feeling in families in which there are several children, as this becomes a considerable item of cost in the monthly budget—with no indication, thus far, of there being a stopping place in the upward climb. Competition of the Cleveland market is announced as the reason—which could mean that eventually smaller communities might be drained of essential food supplies to meet the higher bidding of non-producing large cities. There seems to be something wrong about that idea.

Drop-Off In Juvenile Court Cases

A MESSAGE which should be thankfully received by every mother and father in Mansfield was given by Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer at Wednesday's meeting of the Optimist club.

He told the club members that the number of juvenile cases officially filed before him had dropped sharply from a year ago—138 for the first nine months this year against 202 in the corresponding period in 1945.

And, said the judge, the reason is that mothers are spending more time at home and the youngsters themselves have less money to spend.

Coming little more than a year after the end of the war, that is good news. It comes only a few months after FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover told the National Association of Chiefs of Police that he feared a breaking down of social behavior on the part of the youth of the nation.

Mr. Hoover, as most every other official who works with youthful law breakers, blamed the increasing number of juveniles who ran afoul of the law to the fact that their mothers for years had worked in war plants, leaving the boys and girls to shift for themselves as best they might.

Now, judging by Judge Cramer's report, the policy of "spare the rod and spoil the child" that became prevalent under the pressure of war days seems to be over. Mansfield parents are apparently handling their children with a firmer hand.

There was, of course, another lesson in Judge Cramer's observation. He commented that the reason so few members of the Boy and Girl Scouts and of the YWCA and YMCA found themselves enmeshed with the law was that those organizations gave them a feeling that "they belonged."

Because he feels that a city-wide recreation program can give hundreds of children that comfortable feeling of "belonging" also, Judge Cramer urged a vote favorable to the recreation levy at the Nov. 5 election.

Who Turns In Those False Alarms?

ASIDE from the familiar explanation after misconduct, "I had a few too many drinks," or such misfortune as a subnormal mentality, there can be no acceptable excuse for turning in a false alarm of fire, as has been done entirely too frequently in Mansfield.

No child big enough to turn in a fire alarm should have missed the early training which would impress the seriousness of this offense—and if there are any such in Mansfield they can be taken as evidence that something is lacking in matters of home training and discipline.

It is quite understandable that a group of drunks in the hilarious stage would consider it great fun to turn in a false alarm, but how any sober person could do such a thing is beyond understanding.

Policing cannot possibly be extended to the point of guarding against all such dangerously malicious acts—neighborhood surveillance by residents of areas in which fire alarm boxes are located might be effective in reducing this form of rowdyism.

Develop Color Pictures at Home

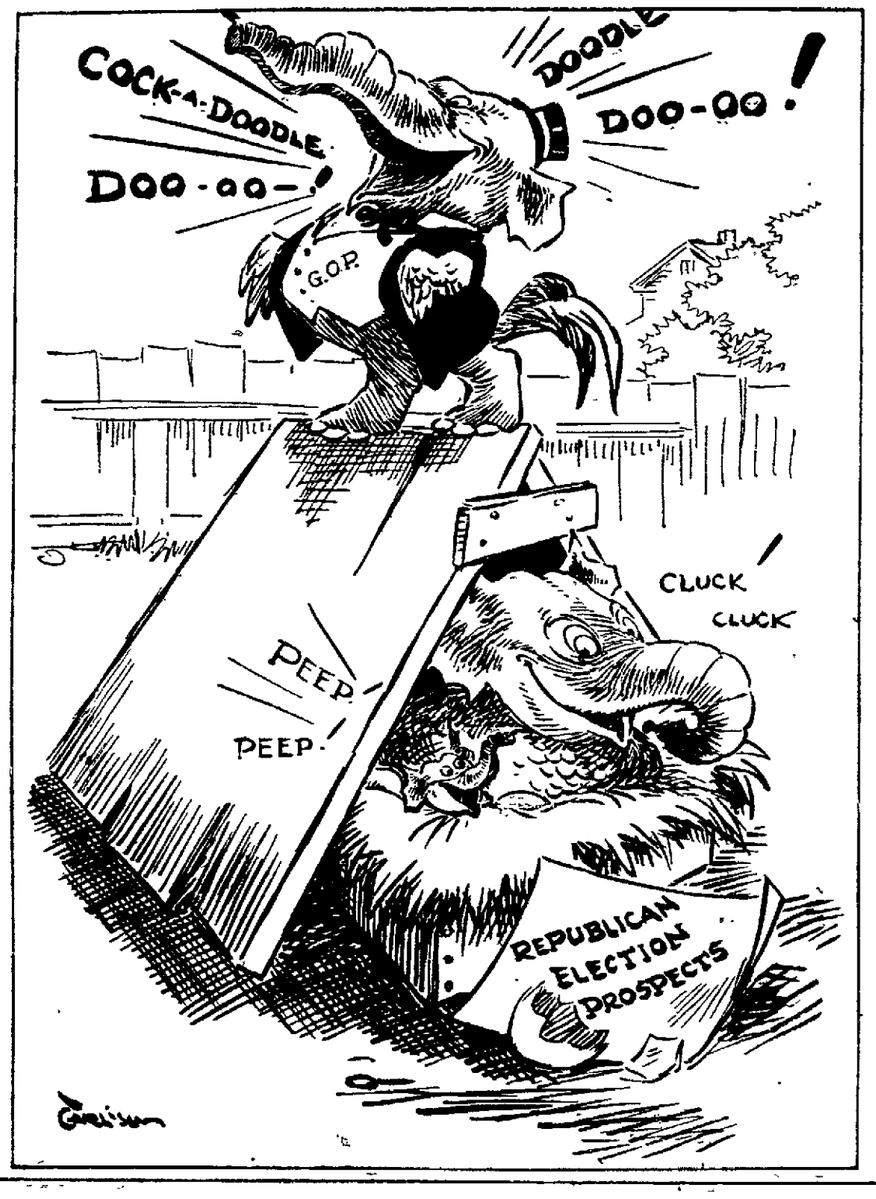
AMATEUR photographers who enjoy watching their shots take form in their own dark rooms are rejoicing that now they can develop color pictures as well as black and whites. A color film has been perfected which can be finished at home, a process heretofore always factory-handled.

True hobbyists want to follow every step in their pet sports. Camera fans now will take up theirs with renewed enthusiasm, and of course camera and film sales will not be hurt by this innovation in color photography.

As neatly put by Robert S. Stephan, in the Cleveland Plain Dealer: "To grasp hands across the oceans we must first, of course, learn to grasp hands across the street."

Mention is being made that Mrs. Ed Reed, of Bascom, N. Y., has just received a Christmas card mailed to her 23 years ago—which is another argument for early mailing.

DOING A LITTLE PREMATURE CROWING



Pearson Fears United States Is On Road to Disastrous Inflation

(Editor's Note — Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to his brother in Paris.)

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON
October 17, 1946.

Leon Pearson,
International News Service,
Paris, France.
Dear Kid:

Well, we are in for some interesting times in this country. A meat-mad America has been threatening to tear Harry Truman limb-from-limb politically unless its appetite for red meat was met, and poor Harry has finally surrendered. I felt sorry for him. But I feel sorrier over what may be ahead for all of us. We may be ready to follow the French road to inflation.

Something has been happening in this country—something that doesn't jibe with our usual good sense and patriotism. Several weeks ago this normally sane nation went mad over meat, and it has stayed mad ever since. I have been trying to figure out the reason.

Actually we ate more meat during the war than before; 140 pounds per person per year, which was 12 pounds more than we ate annually before the war started. And as I look back on it, we never used to be a nation of such passionate meat-eaters.

Remember when we were kids? We never had meat more than three or four times a week. Mother said it was too expensive and that vegetables were just as good, anyway. Remember what a big event it was when, once a week, we had round-steak ground?

"Chicken in Every Pot."

At that time chicken was an even greater delicacy. We always had it on Sundays, and I guess most every family did, for when Herbert Hoover wanted to promise the American people the super-duper of food, he told 'em they'd get "a chicken in every pot" if they elected him president. It got him elected all right, but now that Harry Truman has given us a chicken in every pot, and sometimes turkey to boot, we're not satisfied. Now it's to hell with chicken and Truman. We've got to have a beefsteak in every refrigerator.

Sitting over there in Paris you will hardly believe some of these things. And if you came back on a quick trip you would hardly recognize some of your fellow Americans. They simply went berserk over meat.

I took a quick trip through the Middle West last week, and that was all they were talking about—meat. Our dangerous problems with Russia, the hopes of the peace conference, the relative merits of political candidates all were forgotten in the rage over meat.

Of course, part of this was purposely whipped up by the Republicans—a strategy they'll live to regret. Republican candidates drove loudspeakers up to lines outside butcher shops and made the most of it. It got so bad that fine, able congressmen like Mike Monroney of Oklahoma were in danger of defeat.

But in addition to the politics involved, I am afraid that patriotism and unselfishness and the things that have made this country great, have slid into a terrific backwash.

It began, as it usually begins, near the top. And it filtered down, as it always does, to the people below. When folks see their leaders in congress put a hand out, they wonder why they shouldn't put a hand out, too. And the last session of congress saw the greatest greed-grab I have ever witnessed since the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act was written under Herbert Hoover. That act helped to wreck Hoover. And the same selfish prejudices, the same sectional interests, the same public-be-damned attitude of the last congress have already wrecked Truman—whether he was to blame or not.

Everybody was looking out for himself and the devil take the hind-most — especially when it came to killing price control.

Congressional Greed-Bag.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, Rep., an automobile dealer, introduced an OPA amendment lifting the profit for automobile dealers. Senator Butler, Rep., of Nebraska, a big cattleman, worked for decontrolling meat. Senator Murdock, Dem., of Utah, land of the beet sugar, tacked on an amendment favoring the beet-sugar growers. Senator Hoey, Dem., of South Carolina, which grows tobacco, took the price ceiling off tobacco.

Senator Radcliffe, Dem., of Maryland, where they go in for poultry, introduced an amendment boosting the poultry industry. Senator Ed Moore, Rep., the big oil man from Oklahoma, made sure that price ceilings were taken off oil.

Congressman Ed Gossett, Dem., of Texas, inserted a decontrol amendment for the National Association of Manufacturers; Congressman Jesse Wolcott, Rep., of Michigan, sometimes called the "General Motors spokesman" in congress, introduced the cost-plus-profit amendment; Congressman Fred Hartley, Rep., of New Jersey, did everything possible to help the National Retail Dry Goods Association, while millionaire Senator Taft of Ohio inserted the assured-profit amendment by which business was guaranteed the same lush, bonanza profits of the early war years.

Meanwhile Congressman Gillespie of Colorado, Rep., who shamelessly battled OPA, did not seem to think it wrong that his company, Bluhill Foods, violated OPA price ceilings to the tune of $15,000; while Senators Thomas of Okalhoma and Bankhead of Alabama had the gall to make speeches against OPA curbs on cotton speculation while they themselves were personally speculating in cotton.

Patriotism In Doldrums.

That is how our great lawmakers were cavorting with the public trust in the summer of 1946, one year after fifteen million men had ended their fight for a principle which they thought sacred and a country which they thought was governed by unselfish congressmen.

However, congress usually reflects the sentiment of pressure groups back home, and we can't blame congress for everything. In fact, if the American people have gone meat-mad and money-crazy, it's probably nobody's fault but our own.

We have developed a great machine age. We have turned out rockets, atomic bombs, and world-girdling airplanes. There isn't anything we haven't specialized on—except the science of living with our fellow men. We preach the good-neighbor policy with Latin America, and we send movie stars to foreign countries to tell them how great we are. But if we don't practice good neighborliness at home, I sometimes wonder how we can expect to preach it abroad.

Having cared for our bodily comforts with well-stocked refrigerators and air-cooling, and having developed the deadliest weapons in the world, it looks to me as if we would have to begin working at the science of being our brothers' keeper. If we don't, there may not be much of a civilization left for us to live in.

Please excuse this kill-joy letter. I hope this prediction will be 82 per cent wrong.

Your—at the moment very pessimistic—Brother
DREW.

P. S. I am planning to run for congress on the platform pledge of a side of beef in every deep-freeze and two deep-freezes in every garage.

Uninforceable Laws Should Be Repealed.

WASHINGTON — It has been some 15 years since Lew Randolph sat behind his typewriter in the dim and dingy office of the Macomb (Ill.) Daily Journal that night and said wearily:

"Look, kid. I'm not saying that it hasn't been enforced, and because of that, it's going to be repealed. When people take time to think, they always realize that a law that isn't being enforced is more dangerous than the evil it was supposed to cure—because it sets a precedent for the breaking of all law and order."

Of course, Lew was right about repeal.

It has been only a few weeks now since Lew — still the same taciturn, newsboy-to-editor gent who first initiated this reporter into that curious mixture of constant cynicism and incurable naivete which is called newspapering—unconsciously repeated that theme, this time talking about price controls:

"The important point is whether the controls can be enforced. Those that can be may be good laws. I don't know. But those that can't be enforced are bad laws, because they just set an example for more law-breaking. . . ."

It might be Lew would be interested in a couple of federal laws currently catching a bit of attention.

One of them moved into the spotlight this week when the justice department announced that all foreign agents would have to file new public registration statements of their activities in this country.

It mentioned several such agents, including 262 who were permitted to operate without publicity during the war because they represented allied nations, and 369 other foreign operators who presumably are here but were not allies during the recent unpleasantness.

All of this might seem routine, except that it purports to indicate that we are thus keeping track of all foreign agents in our midst—by reminding them that it is illegal for them to be here without so registering.

Nothing, of course, could be farther from the truth.

As a matter of fact, impossibility of enforcing such a law is such a subject of hilarity around town that even the justice department attempted to save face by announcing that this "is not an anti-espionage act, but is pointed at propaganda groups."

True, it is also aimed at propaganda groups, but the rest of that sentence is pure and proven nonsense—if for no other reason than that at least a few men have been convicted on espionage charges in these United States simply because they had failed to thus register.

Obviously however, such a law is unenforceable. Our spies don't register as such in foreign lands. Nor do all our propagandists. They would look and be ridiculous and ineffectual if they did. It is enough that they do the job and take the risk without rendering themselves impotent by announcing their purpose at the first port they enter!

Certainly the spies of other countries, including our recent allies—who have long since proved their espionage superiority over us—would be foolish to do that sort of thing. . . . They don't.

Domestically underscoring the foolishness of that sort of law is another federal statute previously referred to which requires all lobbyists and lobbying organizations in the country to register as such.

In words of one syllable, boys and girls, they haven't done it.

Checking the lobbying list the other day, I found only a handful—perhaps only one per cent of those I personally know to be lobbyists—registered according to law. And it's almost impossible to get the goods on the rest.

THE ARMY'S "Make It a Million" campaign has ended but the CIO-PAC is several hundred thousand behind.

The secretary of war was scheduled to say "Hello" to the millionth volunteer on Friday. . . . An unknown sergeant was scheduled to say "hey you!" on Saturday.

The CIO-PAC was out for a million dollars and asked each member to contribute one buck. . . . Most of them seem to be powerful hard of hearing.

Or possibly a fellow joins a labor union for labor reasons and a political party for political reasons and keeps them apart. . . . An old thought which might not occur to the new leaders.

Timely Editorial

Example of Slow Motion.

Thirty-five years have passed since the laying of a 30-mile strip of concrete highway near Stockton, Calif., marked the beginning of a new age in transportation.

But the early promise of that age remains unfulfilled. The Pennsylvania Turnpike, 160 miles long, is the one perfect stretch of super-highway in the United States.

The Blue Ridge highway, which is our best exhibit of construction intended expressly to open scenic country to our tourists, remains uncompleted after almost 10 years of work.—Detroit News.

New Mexico Democratic Politicians Nervous.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — The nervous anxiety of politicians here, particularly Democrats, as they stood around waiting to hear what President Truman would say about meat is evidence of the importance of that subject in politics here, as in all the cattle country.

Lifting of controls might be the thing that would give the Democrats this state again. After the speech the Democrats were mightily relieved. For they are hard pressed this year for the same reason as everywhere else—continuing government restrictions which had come to be symbolized in the one word, "meat."

Republicans did not take the Truman action too hard. They say the issue already is settled for purposes of the forthcoming election. The president finally did what they had urged for a long time.

And they still point to the long haggling and haggling in Washington as proof of indecision there. Cattlemen now are largely Republican here anyhow and, furthermore, the issue seems to have become a powerful one with rank-and-file voters, despite the fact that meat hasn't been as hard to get here as elsewhere.

Republicans are in higher spirits here than at any time in the New Deal years. This state stuck to Franklin D. Roosevelt all his time in Washington.

Chief interest nationally centers in the contest for the senate seat now held by Dennis Chavez. He knows he has a fight. To the usual handicap in this year of dissatisfaction with the Democratic administration in Washington, which has alienated some old-line Democrats, the senator has another—a split in the top ranks of his party into bitter personal feuds. Nearly everybody is mad at somebody else, or several somebodies else.

The Republican champion against Chavez is the modern conquistador, Patrick J. Hurley. He also has the flair of the gay caballero with his handsome face and figure and his turned-up mustachios.

He carries about him the glamor of the warrior and diplomat who served the Roosevelt administration as a trouble-shooter in so many world theaters, lastly as ambassador to China. He gave up that post some months ago with one of his characteristic two-gun explosions that shook Washington for days. He is stressing his differences with the state department over policy in China by demanding "an American foreign policy."

Pat Hurley is a showman. He marches grandly over his adopted state like a Shakespearean actor on tour. Some have expressed doubt about how effective his foreign policy emphasis may be in this state.

Pat bought a ranch and took up residence officially here some years ago, but he has not lived in the state to any great extent. Senator Chavez stresses that by speaking of Mr. Hurley as "on a week-end visit." However, you can't toss a rock here without hitting someone who has come here from somewhere else, so the issue may not count much.

Republicans are making much of the war-veteran caliber of their state ticket here. It is studded with veterans.

Senator Chavez' chief hope is perhaps the fact that he is a native and of Spanish descent, which is important among many voters in this state. The word is being passed around that these people must keep a spokesman in Washington.

Marquis Childs

Wisconsin's Active 83-Year-Old Governor.

MADISON, Wis.—At 83 years of age, Gov. Walter Goodland of Wisconsin is running for re-election, and if there is anything certain in the uncertain business of politics, it is that he will be returned to office by a large majority.

The old man is a myth, a legend. The Wisconsin legislative reference bureau has established, after exhaustive research, that he is the oldest man ever to govern a state or territory of the United States.

Yet he is more than a myth, as both his friends and enemies have discovered from time to time. Just when his thoughts seem to be wandering off into the great blue yonder, he comes to with a bang and barks his orders at startled assistants.

There are many reasons why he should be a popular legend. First, the mere fact of his age is appealing at a time when the general age level of the population is climbing. Older people like to think that a man many years their senior can step into an important office and make good.

Then the old governor's spunky independence has won him admirers. They feel that maybe an old man with nothing to lose can be more honest than a young man on the make. Repeatedly Goodland has done battle with the legislature. When he gets riled up by bills that seem to him contrary to the public good, he sends down angry veto messages.

But it is really something deeper than this that has anchored public sentiment to the venerable old gentleman. In an age of rapidly changing values, he stands as a symbol of what is sturdy and solid and good. He is a heritage, an heirloom, to cling to at a moment when so much of the past, both good and bad, seems out the window.

Once he plants his massive body in his chair behind a broad table in the governor's office in the capitol here, he rarely stirs until it's time to go home for lunch or dinner. At 83, he has wobbly knees and feet that trouble him, and he weighs 260 pounds.

Mostly, people come to him. Mostly, they want something. He sits ruminatively puffing on his pipe, and if they're too long-winded or if they sound too foolish, his eyes nod shut. The visitor finds this somewhat disconcerting. After all, you can't prod the governor and ask him if he's heard you.

Much of the fuss and fury of the present the governor dismisses as unmitigated nonsense. He brushes it aside with the same irritated contempt with which you would brush away a swarm of gnats.

"Communism?" he says in his low, rumbling voice. "Why, there's nothing to all that talk. Haven't you learned yet that the American people have to get excited about something? They're always working themselves up over something and, right now, I guess it just happens to be what they call Communism.

"Why, the folks in this country know better than that. The farmers know that you can't get something for nothing. Anything you get, you have to work for—and mighty hard."

Elected lieutenant-governor, Goodland fell heir to the governorship in 1943. Running for re-election two years ago, he polled more votes than either Dewey or Roosevelt polled in Wisconsin. His opponent then was Daniel W. Hoan, one-time Socialist mayor of Milwaukee, who was running as a New Deal Democrat.

Hoan is again opposing the governor. But Goodland doesn't seem in the least worried. He smokes his pipe and looks meditatively out at the red and yellow maples beyond the window.

MOTORIST FINED AFTER MISHAP

Springmill Street Man Admits Failure to Stop.

Charged with failing to stop after an accident early yesterday, Fred Schnittke, 33, of 514 Springmill street, pleaded guilty in municipal court and was fined $50 and costs.

Officers said that a car Schnittke was driving collided with the rear of a parked auto owned by Russell L. North, of 370 Springmill street. Both were heavily damaged.

Patrolman Earl Korn said that Schnittke "had been drinking." He traced the accident to Schnittke's home within an hour and a half after it occurred. Schnittke's license was suspended for six months.

Charles W. Stringfellow, of Ninth avenue, was fined $10 and costs on a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way and William W. Stewart was fined $10 and costs on a speeding charge.

E. Vester Pondexter, 523 Lida street, pleaded guilty to the theft of a carton of chewing gum from the Union depot and was given a 10-day suspended county jail sentence.

Charles M. Leeds, Ft. Wayne, Ind., forfeited a $25 bond by failing to appear for hearing on a speeding charge.

FUMES CLOSE SCHOOL

MT. GILEAD—Gas fumes forced closing of the Mt. Gilead schools Wednesday afternoon while school officials conducted an investigation to determine the source. A pile of ashes which has been accumulating behind the building for years was smoldering and fumes from it are believed to have backed up into a nearby manhole and entered the buildings. The Mt. Gilead fire department was called and extinguished the fire in the ashes.

Barclay on Bridge

Lackadaisical players are prone to act as if the location of secondary cards, like queens, jacks and tens, is a matter entirely in the hand of the fates, and can only be guessed. More conscientious calculators consider that nearly always there is some indication that a card is more likely to be in one place than another. No matter how faint may be such a clue, they weigh it to determine their course of action, where as the careless, blundering type just bulls along and hopes for the best.

Peculiarly, that identical bidding was done at two tables of a seven-table social duplicate, whereas at all other tables East and West got into either small or grand slam at clubs and took all the tricks.

At the two 5-Hearts tables the play began the same, with the club K ruffed by the heart 3 and the next two tricks going to the heart A and K. Then came the sole variation. One declarer led the spade 2 and finessed the 8, which lost to the 10, whereupon the spade A and diamond A set the contract. The other declarer led the same spade 2 to the fourth trick, but finessed the J, which forced the A. After that the defense would have got no more tricks, if East had not laid down his diamond A, as spades would have furnished discards of South's diamonds.

The successful declarer reckoned that West porbably held the Q of either spades or diamonds for his single free bid, and that the spade was the more likely, since East probably had the diamond honor for his first call. Anyway, as he placed it, he was probably safe unless East had the spade Q, whereas the other declarer was surely down promptly if East had either the Q or 10.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, October 19.

It is probable that serious thought, with a keen analysis of present opportunities, might be the means of switching the life into fresh grooves or a new cycle of action, in which the security and long-range purpose of future solidarity and peace of mind, may incite to very decisive activities. Care and consideration for concrete endeavors, should attract support for such worthy and meritorious objectives. Also, the mind will be disposed to move in serious grooves, being reflective, far-seeing and reliable.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to have a serious trend of mentality, in which the future peace, security and satisfaction may prove to be of more than the promotion of current and fleeting advantages. Such deep reflection and long term objectives are assured, support from those in influential positions, sympathetic to new ways of developing an enduring plan of action. Duty, a sense of obligation, may be a determining factor.

A child born on this day may be inclined to take itself and its purpose and objectives in life seriously, finding substantial support from those in influence.

Enlistment Deadline Set

Former technical sergeants in the army who plan to re-enlist should sign up before Oct. 30, M/Sgt. Danial DeSalvo of the Mansfield army recruiting station warned today.

After Oct. 30, no former enlisted man will be re-enlisted in a grade higher than staff sergeant, Sgt. DeSalvo explained.

Until that time, men with certain military occupational specialty numbers may re-enlist as technical sergeants if they meet other requirements.

Former members of the navy, coast guard and marine corps also may enlist in the army and receive the grade for which qualified under a War Department scale.

Sgt. DeSalvo urged veterans not to overlook the fact that all active service counts toward retirement, and that a technical sergeant's yearly income, plus allotments and other advantages, is equivalent to $4,350 in civilian life.

KINNEY HEADS TIRO SCHOOL

Board Elevates Instructor to Superintendency.

TIRO—Albert C. Wilson, last night severed a 20-year tenure with the Tiro school when his resignation was accepted by the board of education. He was replaced as superintendent by Dale Kinney, science and mathematics instructor.

Kinney, well known in the vicinity, started his teaching career here in 1937. In February 1944 he entered the navy, serving as a lieutenant, and returning to his position this fall.

Wilson was given his release in order to accept a position as superintendent of the Mason school, Warren county, northeast of Cincinnati. He will assume his new duties on Monday.

Needing another instructor due to the change, the Rev. Kenneth Stover is considering an offer from the board to accept a full-time teaching assignment.

VETS APPROVE SCHOOL ISSUES

Shelby Legion, VFW to Support Measures.

SHELBY—With election day but three weeks away, a second Shelby veterans' organization, the Broderick post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, along with AFL Local No 663, voiced approval for the two school issues to be presented to voters Nov. 5.

Previously, O'Brien post, American Legion, had voted to support the issue, dispatching a letter of approval to the board of education.

Earlier this month, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, by resolution, gave unanimous approval, while area granges have given consideration to the measures. On Tuesday night Grove grange went on record endorsing both issues.

At a meeting of Union grange this week, plans were made to assist in getting information on both issues to farmers of Jackson township.

Martin Frank, master of the Ganges grange, disclosed his organization, like other farmers in the district, are especially interested in the vocational-agricultural program. He said that every effort will be made to acquaint area voters on the two issues.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK — Having listened to President Truman's lecture on greed in announcing the abandonment of price control on meat, I should like to read one, too.

Mr. Truman was, and remains, loyally, in spirit, the protege and disciple of one of the greediest, meanest rascals in the history of American politics, Tom Pendergast, of Kansas City. When Pendergast went to prison, as he deserved to, but for much less time than he deserved, Truman remained his friend and, to the limit of his power as a senator to do so, avenged him by opposing the reappointment of Maurice Milligan, an able and honest federal prosecutor, who had sent the filthy old monster away and ditched the gaudy political wagon on which Truman had ridden to the local Kansas City county board and then to the senate.

Pendergast was low and vile, and greed was the passion that drove him to exploit the prostitution of young women from the cities and towns of the western plains in the brothels of Kansas City which operated under political license from the dirty Pendergast organization of which Mr. Truman, always knowingly and never under any misapprehension, was an enthusiastic and diligent member. He knew what he was doing and he knew what sort of man his loathesome patron was.

PENDERGAST was so greedy that he even robbed the poor, dumb, menial punks, the wretched, prideless, degraded Kansas City cops, the firemen, and the men and women clerks in public offices by reducing their pay to compensate his organization's thieving from the public taxes. He gypped his fellow-gangsters, wherein he was disloyal even to the code of the underworld of criminals and all for money with which to gamble on the races, at which he was, for a long time, one of the most extravagant fools in the country.

Mr. Truman spoke contemptuously of "selfish men", Senators Taft aind Wherry, "who, in the hope of gaining political advantage, encouraged sellers to gamble on the destruction of price control" by withholding their meat animals from the market.

Waiving all other points raised in this passage—he should talk about gamblers and gambling!

In Pendergast's time, and Truman's, Kansas City had more gambling houses than any other American City outside Nevada, all of them illegal and all of them paying their shake or "lug", as Truman's associates call graft, to the Pendergast machine.

Not only did Truman try to block Mr. Milligan and eventually succeed in eliminating him as a service of revenge for the rogue whom he called chief, but when Pendergast died he flew to Kansas City in an army plane, at our expense, to pay his final tribute, as though no handsomer duty could have been found for American young men in the honorable uniform of their country whose mission in the service was to rebuke, not honor, evil.

"THE SAME GROUP", he said, hated everything Roosevelt stood for.

That there be no mistake, count me among them. I hated the hypocrisy of a millionaire who paid starvation wages and railed at others who paid better: who scorned the mercenary exploitation of public office and nepotism but encouraged and assisted members of his own family to use his position to get rich quick and engineered the swindle of creditors who had loaned fortunes on a mistaken faith in his honor: who seduced labor to exchange one set of chains for another: who left his personal employees $100 each in his will and who exhorted the common man to buy war bonds, forseeing that they would be payable in depreciated dollars but left, in his estate, one $30 bond, in a fortune nearer to two million dollars than one.

Count me among those who hate all this. I take it that Mr. Truman doesn't.

Othman — On Anything

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The old War Production Board once sent to a businessman a questionnaire that was 412 feet long; it came rolled up like a window shade.

It also was carefully wrapped. He thought somebody had sent him a cheddar cheese.

The OPA, which has shuffled more papers perhaps than any other federal agency, has put in print to date more than 11,000,000 words of rules and regulations. These include a report which went to one vitamin manufacturer in the shape of a document 20 feet long and four feet wide. It had so many blanks for him to fill in that he began chewing his own pills. Almost ate up the profits.

When we were recruiting four-footed soldiers one of the local master minds produced a questionnaire for dogs. Each pup was ordered to write down his name, breed, weight, complexion and disposition. Then he was to take pen in paw and affix his signature in ink. That did it.

Business and government agreed that if everybody, including hound dogs, had to spend most of their time at their desks answering ever-increasing stacks of questionnaires, we never would get the war won. Congress passed a law. President Roosevelt signed it.

THE DEAL WAS that no bureaucrat could question anybody about anything without first getting his questions approved by the bureau of the budget. A committee of business leaders, called the advisory committee on government questionnaires, was established to help the budget bureaus. Time passed.

The committee announced the other day it had elected Earl Constantine of New York, a leading maker of nylons, as its new president. It sent thanks to Dr. Stuart Rice of the budget bureau for a job well done. And I thought I'd better get up to questionnaire headquarters to see whether the ship of state was foundering still in a sea of revised C-3000 forms.

The news is good. Dr. Rice has hacked and hacked some more until now the government only has 8,000 separate questionnaires with which to irritate the citizens. The advisory experts said this is the millennium.

Dr. Rice's first rule for the rule makers was to quit writing their questions on roller towels. He said letter heads were big enough. Many of their queries he vetoed altogether as not in the public interest.

Anybody in the government who wants to ask a taxpayer a question, even by telephone, must have approval of the budget bureau. If he doesn't, with one exception, you can tell him to jump in a tank of mimeograph ink. The exception is the bureau of internal revenue.

It is about to mail some green-colored questionnaires about your 1947 income tax: those you'd better answer.

STILL UNCONSCIOUS

Miss Maude Walker, 67-year-old inmate of the Richland county home, remained in an unconscious condition in Shelby Memorial hospital today. Doctors said she probably had suffered a stroke. The woman disappeared last Sunday. She was found unconscious yesterday in a thicket of underbrush three-quarters of a mile from the home.

STATE'S LETTER APPROVING TB PLANS MISSING

Paper Disappears So Stewart Goes to Columbus After Department OK.

While the county commissioners today had the state health department's approval of the proposed $300,000 county tuberculosis sanatorium, the whereabouts of a copy of the approval, said to have been mailed more than a week ago, remained a mystery.

Commissioner Guy F. Stewart returned to Mansfield today with the department's written approval of the general plans of and site for the new hospital. He made the trip to Columbus yesterday and brought photostatic copies of the approval back with him.

All three commissioners declare the state department of health informed them that its director, Dr. Roger E. Heering, had approved the plans, as required by law, and mailed the approval.

"But it never arrived. It's a mystery to me what became of it," Chairman C. L. Shoup said.

"I don't believe it was ever mailed," Commissioner John W. Selby said.

Mailed Oct. 9.

Stewart said Dr. Heering had informed him only yesterday that the approval had been mailed Oct. 9 but that he (Stewart) made the trip in person to Columbus in order to insure delivery of the approval.

"If it was mailed it should have been here by now," Stewart remarked.

Shoup said he checked the Mansfield post office which informed him that no mail from the health department for the county commissioners had been received here.

Queried by telephone today, Dr. Heering told the News-Journal that the approval had been mailed Oct. 9.

"I don't know what could have happened to it. You'd better ask Uncle Sam about it," Heering said.

Both Shoup and Selby said they did not consider it necessary to go to Columbus in person for the approval since they had the word of Dr. Heering that the document had been mailed. They said Stewart had not asked them to make the trip with him.

Ask Permit Now.

Despite the mystery, Stewart's delivery of the approval will now permit the commissioners to obtain a construction permit from the Civilian Production administration.

Shoup said that an application for the permit will be made "just as soon as we can get an appointment with the CPA."

After a CPA permit is obtained the project will be advertised for bids, he said.

The health department's approval contained the stipulation that detailed plans for plumbing, sewerage, sewage disposal and a public water supply must be submitted for the director's approval before actual construction contracts can be let.

MORGAN TO GIVE CONCERT IN CITY

Baritone to Appear with Men's Choral Group Jan. 27.

Mac Morgan, widely known concert baritone, will sing at a Mastersingers concert in Mansfield Jan. 27, it was announced today by Louis Jisa, president of the choral society.

Dr. F. A. Hoffman, who helped make the Mastersingers' first concert last spring a success, will head the committee on arrangements for the January program. Robert Marshall, Cleveland tenor, was the guest soloist at the concert last June.

Morgan has just signed a long-term contract with the Cities Service company to sing on Friday night programs over NBC.

The 60-voice Mastersingers choir has started rehearsals for the coming concert, practicing each Monday night under the leadership of A. LeMoine Derr.

Although membership for the next concert of the Mastersingers has been closed, new applications for future concerts will be received at any time, according to Jisa and Paul Watts, chairman of the board.

JURY CONVICTS INMATE OF OSR

Finds Him Guilty of Second Degree Murder.

Howard Nichols, 20, of Hardin county, inmate of the Mansfield Reformatory, was found guilty late yesterday of murder in the second degree in the death of Janvere Bruck, 18, of Cleveland, a fellow inmate of the institution.

A jury of five men and seven women in Richland county common pleas deliberated only 45 minutes before reporting the verdict. The case went to the jury about 4 p. m.

Nichols and Lewis Murton, 19, of Cleveland, were indicted for murder in the second degree by the September grand jury. No date has been set for Murton's trial.

The youths were charged with stabbing Bruck to death in a supper line-up at the reformatory July 18.

Testimony revealed that the stabbing followed the disappearance of a safety razor case containing several pictures and lockets from the mattress where Nichols had concealed it.

Both Nichols and Murton as well as Bruck formerly were inmates of the Boys Industrial school at Lancaster.

Galion Man Found Dead Near Tracks

GALION—The body of John F. McGuire, native of Ireland, was found at 7 a. m. today near the Big Four Camp 19, near here. He was seen alive at 11 p. m. last night by Joe Dewalt and Tom Helcher with whom he lived near the railroad camp.

Crawford county Coroner O. R. Kackley, after an examination, said death was due to natural causes.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

PUBLIC UP IN ARMS

CINCINNATI—(INS)—Public indignation over a wave of assaults in the Greater Cincinnati area soared anew today with a criminal attack on an expectant mother in suburban Walnut Hills. Police also received a report of an assault on a Newport, Ky., woman in the appliance store of her fiance.

'Grape Dance' Tomorrow Night

The annual grape festival dance, sponsored by the Sons and Daughters of Herman Lodges No. 13 and 14, will be held at 8 p. m. Saturday at the lodge hall.

The festival, held in many cities in this country by descendants of Austrian-Hungarian people, originated about 75 years ago in Europe. The end of the grape harvest season is celebrated with folk songs, dances and other festivities.

Music will be furnished by Eddie Skulski's band.

Milk Price Lower In Four North Ohio Cities Than Here

The price of milk delivered to Mansfield homes is higher than in Akron, Sandusky, Warren and Youngstown, but on a par with prices charged by dairies in Cleveland, Alliance, Canton and Lorain, a survey by The News-Journal disclosed today.

Newspapers in those nothern Ohio cities, answering a telegraphic inquiry, reported:

TICKET SPECULATOR—

It happened last night around 5 p. m. A member of the News-Journal staff was stopped by a lad of 15 or 16 years. "Wanna buy a ticket for the game tomorrow night?" he was asked. When the teenager was assured that said scribe already had a ducat in his possession, the young "salesman" tackled a not-so-young prosperous appearing gentleman with a proffer of a ticket on the 50-yard line—for only $3.50! Shades of the times!
